The wonder and love of a child's Christmas...

The wonder of Christmas is nowhere more apparent than in the eyes of children, but the season's magic touches the child in all of us, stirring memories of innocence and love.

In this special supplement we bring you stories and poems written by J. Douglas Hodgson, Gooderham and Wilberforce elementary schools, along with messages of goodwill from area people and businesses. May it bring a smile to your face.

Christmas is loving and caring

What Christmas means to me. It's loving, caring, and spending time with your family. Most people don't think about that. They usually just like the presents and what they get. Christmas does not mean that to me. Just opening presents and thinking about what you got. I think about Jesus Birthday and when he died for me on the cross. I think about friends, family, caring and loving. If you never got any presents from your family, then you would likely go ask them why? They would say. It's the thought that counts. Presents are not everything. You laugh, talk about the good old days.

Families get together. If you just think about presents and nothing else then you do not care about anyone or anything. But if you don't care about presents that's great. Then you have the Christmas Spirit in you. And you should be happy about it. I hope you learned something from my story called. "What Christmas means to Me!" Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Love, Lisa Henry, Grade 6A

ONE UPON A TIME

Once upon a time there was a family of four. Their father was a wood maker. The mother was a baker. Their two kids fed the animals and took their dad something to eat for lunch. One day the dad went to town to sell some of his toys. When the kids were walking back to the little tree they thought of an idea. So they went into the woods and collected some pine cones. Then they painted them. then they took some hay and made bows to put on the tree, then candles too. On the way home Dad thought he was lost, then he saw a light and then followed it. When he came he saw the little tree all decorated. Some of the toys that he didn't sell he took them and placed them under that beautiful tree. And that's how they got the idea of the first Christmas Tree.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

Once upon a time there was a little girl and boy who decorated a tree. They went into the woods to collect pinecones. They painted them. When they got home they hung them on the tree. They also made gingerbread men to put on their tree. Their dad came home and made a manger scene out of wood. He put a star on top that looked like the Bethlehem star, for the tree. That was the first Christmas.

Mrs. Claus took over from Santa

One typical day in December Santa and his elves were busy working on all the toys for all the little girls and boys. They only had five more to make and then they would be done for the year.

They had never been finished so early so Santa decided to go on a little vacation. He phoned his travel agent and he said he wanted to go to Jamaica for 18 days.

The travel agent said that she could only fit him in from the sixth to the twenty-fourth.

Santa said he would take it, for he really had to get away.

"Don't worry," Santa said to Mrs. Claus "I'll be back in time to make my rounds. Trust me." 18 days later.

Bring, Bring, Bring.

"Hello," answered Mrs. Claus when she picked up the phone.

"There's been a delay in my flight I can't make it until tomorrow! You'll have to take the reindeer and the toys to the children.

"Please I have a reputation to uphold!"

"Okay I'll try. Wish me luck.

"Good-luck! Be Careful!"

So Mrs. Claus loaded up the sleigh and hooked up the reindeer and was off.

First she went to Sara and Cara's house, then she went to Jennifer and Dianne's and finally Tanyas.

When she was totally finished and was pulling into the parking lot she was Santa's little Porsche 944 in the shed! Then when she went into the house Santa was sitting in his arm chair!

"What are you doing here?" screamed Mrs. Claus

"I needed to see if you could take over if something happened to me. I hope you aren't mad are you?"

"No actually I had fun!"

Once upon a time, one dark Christmas Eve, a little boy and his mother, were sitting at a coffee table eating supper. The mother had prepared a large turkey for the family, but the father had called and said he would be working late and to go on without him, so they did.

Suddenly the mother started to choke on a bone. The little boy remembered the phone number his mother had taught him, 911, but some how, when he was dialling, he mixed up the numbers and dialled 119.

Just then a voice came on the line. "Hello, you have reached the north pole."

The little boy started to cry. He finally calmed down and spoke he sniffled. "Stop fooling around. My mommy is dying and I dialed 911 to save her. Please hurry."

"Well I'm sorry little boy but you must have dialled 119 by mistake because that's what you've reached, but I'll tell you what. I'm Santa Claus and it's Christmas Eve and my gift to you can be that I'll save your mom. Just say, "I wish my mom was well," and hang up, she will be just fine.

The little boy did as he was told. He cried "I wish my mom was well" then hung up. He return-

MRS CLAUS TAKES OVER!

It was just a typical day in December. Santa and his elves were thinking of something to make with the material they had left. Suddenly Santa started to sneeze. The elves just stared at him because they have never seen this behavior before!! They took him into Mrs. Claus to see if she had a cure for the common cold. Naturally she didn't!! Mrs. Claus said "You aren't going out on Christmas Eve if my life depends on it!"

And from the look on her face, she meant it! She put Santa to bed, loaded up the sleigh, and was off. First she went to Sara's house and then to Jodi's. She made a few more stops at Tanya's, Jennifer's, and Dianne's house.

On the way back the sleigh quit! It was heading for the ground at a terrible speed! CRASH!

Mrs. Claus was unconscious. her leg was badly bruised. When she came to, she had to hitch-hike back to the North Pole. When she got home, she called a tow truck to go and get the sleigh.

Santa was in bed, so, she just crawled in too and went to sleep and never spoke a word about the crash.

TRADITIONS

At our house at Christmas, we have many traditions. On Christmas Eve, we go to our relatives for supper and for part of the evening. When we get home, we hang our stocking and for the rest of the evening, we listen to Christmas music on the radio. On Christmas day, when we make up, we rush straight to the presents. We can only open certain articles though. The rest has to wait until after breakfast. For breakfast, we have my Mom's cherry loaf and frozen peaches. Then we open the rest of the presents and have until noon to try them out, try them on etc. After that, we go to my Grampa's and Grandma's house for the afternoon and for the Christmas turkey. We then come back home to bed after a long and enjoyable day.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS TREE

One day there lived a boy and a girl that lived with their mother and father. The boy's father made toys so others can have toys for Christmas. The mother baked cookies, for the kids to eat. The boy's father had to pack the toys and vie them away. So off he went with the toys. When the mother said "It is getting late". Then the kids had a plan to decorate a tree. Coming home he got lost, he saw a star that reminded him of Jesus. He followed it and he was at home safely.

WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS TO ME

I think Christmas is for giving to you loved ones and even not so loved ones. I like Christmas because you show that you care for people. A lot of people think that Santa is your parents. I know that he is alive. Christmas means a lot to me. If there wasn't a Santa what is the sense of Christmas? The reason that we celebrate Christmas is because of Jesus. Jesus was born on Christmas day. Jesus cares about us and if we do something bad. He lets us know that we did something wrong. If we get hurt, he is caring for us. I care a lot about Christmas and Jesus.

THE YEAR SANTA HIT THE STATUE OF LIBERTY

One foggy Christmas Eve, when Rudolf was sick Santa had to go out. He was flying along and all of a sudden "Bang," into the Statue of Liberty. Down they went like a ton of bricks. Santa thought he was in heaven when he landed in the water. "Br,r,r this is cold," said Santa, who was freezing his toes off.

"Get me out of here!" yelled Santa.

All of a sudden the Coast Guard came along and spotted them. When they brought them aboard they noticed that it was Santa Claus.

"Holly mokes!" said the captain.

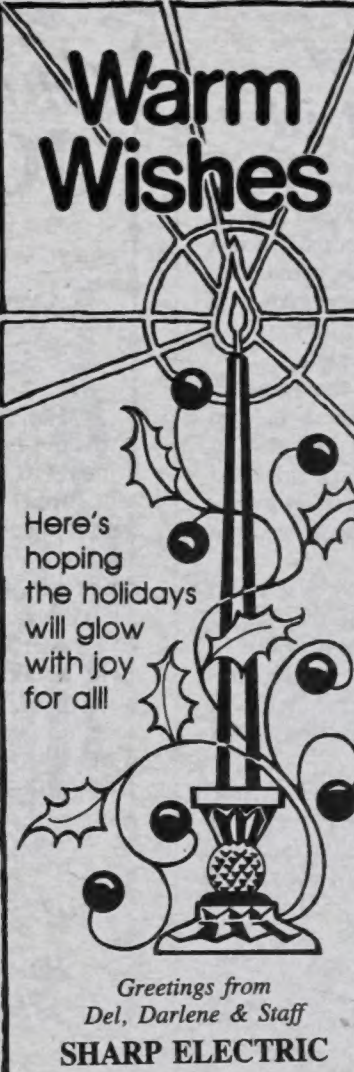

They took Santa to the station. They got Santa warm and then gave him a Phazar II to make his deliveries. Christmas was saved.

The children wished for snow and Santa sent it!

Way down in Miami there was once a whole bunch of kids and grown ups who didn't believe in snow! (frankly because there wasn't any down there.) Every year when Christmas came kids would build straw-men instead of snowmen, and they would say Santa Clause came in a bathing suit with 9 reindeer which pulled his sleigh.

They couldn't understand why the reindeer would want to fly because it was so hot on Christmas Eve every year. (so far) Instead of tobogganing, kids always went for sleigh rides and usually they would go swimming too. They would still give and receive presents like we (people in Canada) do.

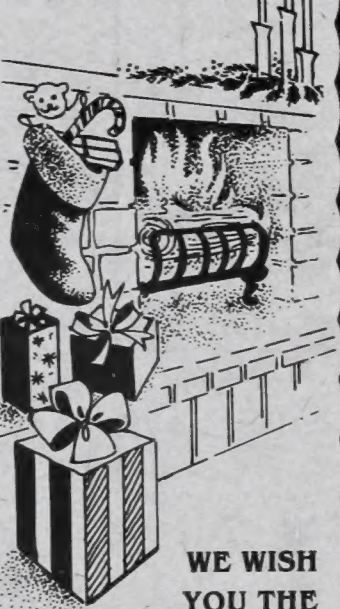

One year a little girl and a little boy (sister and brother) wrote a letter to Santa. One their letter they asked for snow. For these kids believed in snow. All the other kids teased them but Jan and Tom didn't care, for they really thought there was snow and believed (unlike some people) that Santa is real (and he is!)

Christmas was coming and lists were being made for Santa. Some people's lists were very, very long and most had thing like gimme this, get me that, I want this, I like that but nobody had a list quite like Jan's and her brother.

It was soon Christmas eve and St. Nick was coming that night. Everything was going nicely and then it happened when Jan and Tom were outside, at first one then another and another and so on, it was snowing! Christmas for everyone!

'Golly, there's a lot to do at Christmas!'

Golly there's a lot to do at Christmas, everybody runs and jumps around. They fiddle and they fiddle. They diddle and daddle. But most of all they run away from me! When I come along and say hello and then they yell lets go. Golly there's a lot to do at Christmas. People run and shout. They buy tons of wrapping paper and sometimes they even get a little selfish. Golly there's a lot to do a Christmas. My mom talks one mile an hour on the phone, asking what to get people. Golly. If it's Christmas time why do people run away? I know, now because they love me. And they want to hide my gifts!

THE ELVES GO ON STRIKE

Once upon a time, there were a bunch of elves working for Santa. It was only one week until Christmas and old St. Nick had a very big list of toys for the elves to make. But the elves took one look at the list and snapped, "No way St. Nick, were not making all of those toys!"

With that the elves put on their toques and left. Santa was alone now to make those 1001 toys himself. it was Christmas Eve and Santa only had 102 of his toys done. He sighed as he continued to work. The elves felt very sorry for Santa, so half of an hour later they came back to Santa's workshop. In a little while they were all done. To the amazement of the Santa's eyes, all of the toys were ready and put in to his bag by 10:00 PM. Santa congratulated the elves.

One of them piped up, "We enjoyed our holiday."

Half an hours later Santa was off with Rudolph in the lead.

A tree just for the old toymaker

Once upon a time there was a woodmaker and his wife and two children. The woodmaker lived in a cottage. The woodmaker sold toys and he went to some villages to sell some of his toys. He left for home but he couldn't find his way through the forest and he got lost. Suddenly he saw a light shining. He followed it and there it was, his favorite Christmas tree! I was the very first Christmas tree and he saw it all decorated with candles. He was so happy to see what his children has done for him. then he put all the wooden figures under the Christmas tree and all the wooden toys he made he put them under the Christmas tree and he put the star of Bethlehem on top. He saw all the beautiful decorations on the Christmas tree, and was very happy.

WHAT CHRISTMAS MEANS TO ME

Christmas is a time when people get together and have a big supper. After that the stockings are hung by the chimney and the kids go to bed. Then Santa comes down the chimney and puts the presents under the tree. Then fills the stockings with little cars, dolls, plus ans whole bunch of goodies. Then he lts off a big Ho Ho Ho Merry Christmas. After that he goes to other peoples houses and gives out other presents. When the boys and girls and little kiddies get up all you hear is Rip, tear and screams.

Did you know Santa drives a Porsche?

It happened one Christmas Eve when Santa was loading up. As he entered the barn, he heard three "achoo's", one after the other. Santa walked over toward the noise. Three of his reindeer had colds, Comet, Prancer and Cupid. "What can I do?" Santa asked one of the elves? Three of my reindeers have colds. "I am not sure?" replied one of the elves. Mean while, a little girl named Ellen in Toronto, Ontario, she had been thinking, of waiting up for Santa. One of the kids at school told Ellen there was no Santa Claus, but she had plugged her ears and had walked away. On Christmas Eve she crawled out of bed, ready to wait. As soon as her mother and her mother's boyfriend Tony fell asleep, she went out to the livingroom and sat in the big chair by the Christmas tree. She was starting to fall asleep, when suddenly a car pulled up. She turned around and looked out. She lived in a building on the top floor. She heard the horn of a car beeping and saw a big round old man hop out of a red Porsche. It was Santa Claus he had drove the Porsche because three of his reindeer were sick. Ellen jumped out of the chair and opened the door but no one was there so she ran to the window and looked out there was no car, so she sighed and decided to go to bed. The next morning she woke up she ran out to the livingroom and she spotted a present from Santa. She opened it, it was a little model of a red Porsche.

A hard journey for a special gift

It was the weekend before Christmas and I still hadn't done my shopping yet. Lets see, I have Winky, Moose, Mom, Animal, Fredrick and Sally. Oh no, a lot of shopping. So I went to town and finally then next day I just had Sally left but I didn't know what to get her. I thought and thought but I still couldn't think of anything. So I decided to visit the wise old mouse. He said I must go on a journey to find the pink crystal. I asked him where to find it. He said, 'You find it on Owl Mountain.' 'Owl Mountain', I said. "That's where my mother and father have forbidden me to go." "That's where to find it," said the wise old mouse. "But I will go with you." After days of hard hiking we found a cave. We went in and I yelled, "I found it. I found it!" I put it in a box I brought with me then. We went home and wrapped the box. The next day I gave the present to Sally. She loved it! It was worth all the hard work to see her so happy.

SANTA IS ON HIS WAY

Santa was on his way to the house and he had forgotten that it was Christmas. He forgot the sleigh, the reindeer and his suit, but he was in a rush because it was the worst day of the year to hook up the sleigh and the deer. He had to get toys to the children and give presents to others. He also wanted the poor people to get money and the sick people to get better.

What does Christmas mean to me?

What does Christmas mean to me?
It means to me a Christmas tree.
We decorate our tree tonight,
Upon this snowy Christmas night.
Sometimes the snow is very deep,
And lots of hills are very steep.
Decorations are so pretty,
When you're looking at the city.
Then you'll get a surge of joy,
When you open your Christmas toy.
There are toys under the tree,
Some for you, and some for me.

By Karin Aschenbrenner, 4A.

CHRISTMAS JOY

What does Christmas mean to me?
Presents underneath the tree.
Many big and little toys,
Making loud and howling noise.
When you get a big big toy,
You are full of lots of joy.
I like to play in the deep snow,
But at five o'clock its time to go.
Christmas is a time of love,
When you see the dove above.

CHRISTMAS EVE

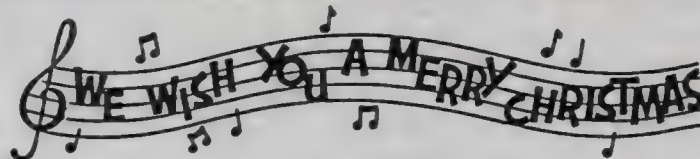

What does Christmas mean to me?
A big green Christmas Tree.
With lots of presents underneath.
On Christmas Eve, when Santa comes.
Snuggled in my bed, I dream of sugar plums.
On my door a beautiful wreath.
As I woke I saw all the toys, and it was dandy.
And later on I ate all the candy.
Then my Mother said "James go brush your teeth!"

CHRISTMAS DAY

What does Christmas mean to me?
Christmas means a nice tall tree.
Christmas is a holiday,
For every girl and boy to play.
When Christmas comes I'm filled with joy.
Because I get a little toy.
Christmas day I have bad luck,
Because my mom is always stuck.
On Christmas people like to play,
Upon this very snowy day.
Many presents under the tree,
That's what Christmas means to me.

By D.J. Kay, 4A.

CHRISTMAS MEMORIES

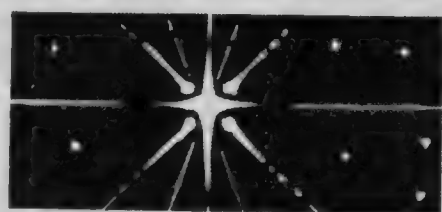

What does Christmas mean to me?
A bundle of presents under the tree.
Christmas is the time of year,
When people always give a cheer.
Santa has a big red sleigh.
That goes so quickly every way.
Santa's suit is red and white,
And his big black belt is tight.
You have a tree that's big and bright,
That glows so pretty in the night.
He gives to every girl and boy,
A very special Christmas toy.

By Neil Paul, 4A

THE GREATEST GIFT

What does Christmas mean to me?
God's gift of the nativity.
This gift is very next to none,
Because it is for everyone.
Sometimes this gift is crowded out,
With all the people rushing about.
As shoppers hurry to and fro,
This gift is oft forgotten you know.
God the father up above,
Gave this gift with all his love.
This gift can live inside of you,
If you take time to ask it to.

What does Christmas mean to me?
Christmas means a beautiful tree.
When Santa come to see you,
You go and see Santa too.
When you get your little toy,
You are filled with lots of joy.
I like to play out in the snow,
But at five o'clock it's time to go.
I like to see on Christmas night,
The houses and the trees so bright.
After I hang my stocking up,
I will fill Santa's giant cup.
Christmas is a time when girls and boys
Get wonderful little Christmas toys.
On Christmas day bells are ringing,
And lots of children happily singing.
Girls get pretty little dolls,
And boys get lots of colourful balls.
The glittering white, white snow,
Seems to have a nice beautiful glow.
The angels dress is really bright,

Her dress is such a pretty sight.
Jesus was born on Christmas day,
Jesus was laid in a many of hay.
On Christmas day it's lots of fun,
It's lots of fun for everyone.

THE REAL MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

What does Christmas mean to me?
The joy of gifts and a Christmas tree.
Santa packs his bag of toys,
He knows we're always full of joys.
Christmas is so much fun,
Our aunts and uncles come, come come.
Lift me up so I can see,
The decorated Christmas tree.
We decorate the tree tonight,
Upon this snowy Christmas night.
When you get outside you hear,
The carols of the angels near.
It's not a present it's not a toy,
It's Jesus gift that brings us joy.
Christmas is a time give,

A tree helped the toymaker get home

Once upon a time, there was an old woodmaker and his family. It was a night before Christmas and the woodmaker had to make lots of toys for the village. When he went to the village his kids had an idea. They were going to decorate a Christmas tree for their father and they did. They put Pine cones on it, straw bows and some more things too. The woodmaker got lost in the woods at night. But he did not know the way home in the dark. The woodmaker saw a light! That's how he got home because of the Christmas tree. The woodmaker put figures of Jesus under it and put a star on top. That's why we have a Christmas tree now.

by John McKenna 4A.

WHEN I AWOKE ON CHRISTMAS

When I woke up on Christmas morning I went down stairs and I saw Santa. I walked over and said "Hi Santa" and he said "Hi!" back. I helped him unpack the presents and then he said, "Do you want to go to the North Pole with me?" I said, "OK!" So we got in his sleigh and then we were there. I played with the toys and I had gingerbread. It was good and then he took me home. Next I woke up mom and dad and we opened our presents.

It was three nights before Christmas and Santa had alot to do. The elves were making toys very fast. The Christmas expres was going all around geting all the toys. O'yes Christmas was comeing very soon. Now that time was flying fast they had lots to do. Soon it was only one more day and the elves were packing Santa's sligh for to night. And soon it was time Santa was off to town. The end.

The elves forgot it was Christmas!

One night Santa forgot Christmas and I will tell you why. The elves said it was November 25. They kept on fighting then one elf said, "I will go ask Santa." So he ran up up up to Santa's workshop. He asked, "Is it December 25th?" Yes. Oh no we have to get all the toys ready. Pack the sleigh. It got packed in time and Santa got to my house, Meghan's house. Britney's, Dana's, and Ainsley too. And everywhere he went he said, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

WISE MEN

Wise men came riding on camels brown,
Over the sand dunes up and down.
In the morning on Christmas Day,
Santa comes riding on a sleigh.
Snowflakes are falling from the sky,
Then everyone says Christmas is nigh.
Every candle is brightly lit,
And in its light people sit.
Men and women all around,
Never in their life, this joy they found.
Even the animals feel this joy,
That comes to every girl or boy.
Now it is time for Christmas Day,
And that is all I have to say.

Santa, everybody needs freedom

Dear Santa,

I really don't know what to have for Christmas, but I know one of them. Freedom I think that every body needs freedom. We have adopted a child. His name is Sancha. He lived in Thailand. His parents were not very rich in fact they were poor. They couldn't afford medicine or food. I'm really glad we all pitched in and adopted Sancha. He really needed it. Every time I see a poor person I feel really sorry for them. And really hope I don't see another poor person again. Our teacher talked to us about it to the class room. It was really fun writing this letter. P.S. — Don't forget the letter.

Denis Leduc

Dear Santa,

Do you go to Russia? Can you go to Russia this year? They probably don't have Christmas because you don't go there for Christmas. If there were two Christmases you could go there for Christmas!

Yours truly,
Jason Emery

Dear Santa,

For Christmas I want for the homeless to have warmth and shelter and be as warm as me, so they can have beds instead of a bench. I want people to be free just like me. For people to go where ever they want, and for kids to where what ever they want. But still there are people that have to go without clothes. Wouldn't it be nice if everybody had a home to sleep in? So this Christmas instead of something for me how about something that is needed.

Laura Edwards

Dear Santa,

I would like freedom for all the world. No one on the streets at night, they're at home with their families. No more killing or burning down places. Let there be peace all over the world. Please let there be no families low on food, no one should starve. Lots of kindness and sharing.

From Steven Davidson

Dear Santa,

I wish everyone had freedom in the world and every won had a home and food to servive everyone would get a present and would not have to go to a orphanage, and have money to buy food and pay all there bills that they have, and to have a nice bed to sleep in at night and have a school to go to almost every day. And to have a brother or a sister or both. And have a mom and a dad.

— Anonymous

Dear Santa,

I hope you can bring the people that don't have anything something this Christmas so they will be happy. Don't worry about me this Christmas because I have enough stuff. So I don't mind. This will be the first Christmas they will have that is going to be good. Some of the people didn't even have or have herd of Christmas.

Your friend,
Angela Shaw

Dear Santa,

For Christmas, I would like shelter for all the people that don't have one. I would also like to have love for the people who don't have a family. And peace all around the world. I hope that some day my wishes will come true. It may not happen for a long time. It may not happen at all. Hopefully it will happen. It would make me happy and probably a lot of other people happy too.

A special gift that was shared

Once upon a time there was a little girl. This little girl's parents were divorced and she lived with her mother. Her mother was very poor and couldn't buy anything for Christmas. Last year she only got one present from Santa.

One day the little girl was walking down the road and found two dollars on the sidewalk. She wanted to go to the store and buy something but instead she gave it to her mother. Her mother said that she could have it. So the little girl was walking around the store. She over heard people talking to the store clerk asking for a Wintario ticket. The store clerk said "that will be two dollars please." The little girl thought that she would find out what Wintario is. She went up to the store clerk and asked. The store clerk told her what they were, so the girl bought one and went home.

The next day, the girl got up and went to school. All the kids were teasing her because she didn't get Christmas presents. She got really upset and told everyone that she's going to win the Wintario. At the end of the day everyone was excited because it was the last day of school before the Christmas holidays. When the girl got home she watched TV and her numbers came up in Wintario. She told her mom and the next day they went to get the $100. When they got there the lady said that there was a mistake and they got $10,000. So they got the money and were very very happy.

The next day, the mother went out and bought the Christmas presents. She bought a Nintendo, computer, ghetto blaster and lots of tapes.

Christmas morning the little girl looked under the tree and there were five presents from Santa and five from her mother. Christmas day they went out and gave an anonymous donation to the Salvation Army.

The talking tree

In the blizzardy snowstorm Dad and I went to Sherlock Forest to get a tree — that perfect green Christmas tree.

I said, a half hour later, "Look at that beauty, it's a dandy for Christmas next week." He agreed. He pulled off the straps that were holding the chainsaw on the trike. Vroom! Vroom! Down goes the tree to ground level. Dad and I picked up the tree and laid it on the trike. On the way home Dad and I talked about what we got for Christmas for our family. When we got home we set up the tree, so anxiously waiting for Christmas. The tree had a flying angel at the top and around the tree were 6 sets of colourful mini-lights. We had blinker lights too. (6 nights later, on Christmas Eve, talking to Mom in the kitchen — "Mom, I can't wait for Christmas!" "You Can't?" said the tree! "Mom, was that you?" "No, it wasn't, son." The tree! It must be talking. "Yes, I've heard you talking and I know a lot about you. Can we be friends?" Sure, this is the best Christmas ever.

THE TREE

Once there was a little fir tree. He grew in "shady forest with lots of other fir trees. He got along with all of them pretty well. But he hated the biggest tree because he was so bossy.

One day some people came to get a Christmas tree. He thought for sure they would pick him, but they picked the biggest tree in sight. He was so sad until a tree said, "I'm glad I'm not picked because after they are finished with you they throw you away." The little tree was so happy he had not been chosen.

A proud, perfect Christmas tree

A tree once stood in a forest, surrounded by its friends. It had a wish — it's wish was to be a Christmas tree. Then one day a week before Christmas, some children came with a sled and saw. The tree knew that they were looking for a Christmas tree. The tree tried to straighten itself as much as it could. "Look at that tree!" Mandy yelled. "It will make a great Christmas tree!" yelled Dwight. So Dwight and Mandy cut down the tree and tied it on the sled.

At the house Dwight and Mandy's parents were waiting to see the tree they had brought home. Once they sold the tree they were speechless because they had never seen such a beautiful tree in all their lives. They ran to help Mandy and Dwight get the tree inside. After they had brought the tree inside, they got out the decorations. When the tree was decorated, everyone gasped in amazement, because the tree was so lovely.

The week passed and before the tree knew it, it was Christmas Day. Everyone was opening the presents which lay under it. It was the happiest day in the tree's life.

The day after Christmas, the tree was taken down and taken to the dump. It was the worst day ever. The first second you have the pride, the next second you don't.

CHRISTMAS DAY

It was Christmas night and I heard a sound. It was Santa and he gave me a big present. It was a train set. My sister came down. She got a doll and it was pretty too. I liked it. One night my sister let me sleep with it and the next day I let my sister play with my train set. We had fun.

Santa helped the horses out

One day a baby horse was born on Christmas. He was white with black spots. He had huge blue eyes which almost filled his whole face. That foal was a bashful little thing. One day when he was grown up there was a horrible blizzard. When he went to tell his mother she was gone! He said I have to find her. So he went outside. As soon as he went out he almost froze stiff. He called and called but she never called back. He was scared because he heard growls, howls and screeches. Then suddenly he heard trit-trot. It was his mother. Then they went back home and before they got home a huge, fierce lion jumped down from a rock and started chasing after them. They got home and shut the door but the lion kept on scratching at the door. That night Santa came and scared the lion away and he never returned again.

Christmas Joy

Hon. John Eakins, M.P.P.

The tree was loved, for a while

It was a week away from Christmas and everybody was getting a tree. And one by one, trees disappearing. Finally it was Christmas Eve and there was one tree still standing. M... had no one to be with because his other friends were cut down to be a Christmas tree. (He dreamed of being cut down and being decorated with ornaments and children dancing around him.) Then suddenly he heard a child's voice. Here's the one we could have. Yes, we could, little one. Then the little tree felt him being carried away!

Oh boy, I get to be a Christmas tree too. When the little tree got home he felt like he was loved (and he was).

When Christmas was over, he was thrown out and the little tree sat there for the rest of his life, feeling sad and cold!

And under the tree presents are located.
On the top of a big green tree,

CHRISTMAS FUN

What does Christmas mean to me?
A colourful glowing Christmas tree.

I hear the pretty angel sing,
And hear the pleasant bells that ring,
Because it's Jesus day of birth,
All hearts are filled joy and mirth,
Playing in the deep white snow,
Listening to the cold winds blow.
Lots of gifts under the tree,
Some for you and some for me.
There's lots of good things to eat,
And in the livingroom we take a seat.
At ten o'clock I go to bed,
With my stocking up above my head,
On Christmas I get a good night's sleep,
And in the house there's not a peep.

The tree that saved a man's life

Long ago in Germany in the edge of the forest there was a toy maker. He had two kids a daughter and a son and a wife. The toy wife made buns. The kids went in the forest and to meet their father and give them homemade buns. After that they went back home. Their father planted a pine tree just before they were born. The toy maker came home before sunset to eat dinner. Tomorrow is Christmas eve. That's all they were thicking about.

Next day the toy maker had to go to the village. After he was gone the kids decided to decorate the tree. They got pinecones and painted them all different colours.

Then they hung them on the tree. They got all

Candy Claus brings candy canes!

One day Candy Claus came to Santa Town. She was a new born baby. Her first day there she grabbed a candy cane so they named her Candy Claus. When she grew up she had yellow curls and nice pink, blue, purple and white dresses. She helped everyone. When it was Christmas she made candy canes for the children. She would take a postcard of the North Pole and send it with a candy cane. It said Candy Claus, 120 810 HoHoHo. When Santa went to deliver the presents Candy Claus went too. Every time Santa went down the chimney Candy would go too and put a candy cane in the stockings. And every Christmas since, she always does that. And they have had many Christmases.

One Christmas morning Jonathon Carouso was so excited to see what he got for Christmas. But one thing he couldn't reach the door knob. He stretched and he jumped and he finally go hold of it. Slowly, he turned the knob and he yanked the door open. When he just got to the tree a voice said, "Jonathan, oh Jonathan!" Jonathan thought to himself, "Ohm no! My mom is coming. Christmas from a tree's point of view!

In the year 2020, on the 15th of December, two little children and their father went to buy a Christmas tree. They went into a yard filled with Christmas trees. They had pink, blue, purple and they were all metal so they would never rot. They looked and looked but they could'nt find anything, until they came across a real Christmas tree. They liked it so they went to the man and bought it. The owner came over with an axe. The tree thought Oh, Oh, I'm a dead duck now! Chop! Chop! Chop! Timber! They took me over to his house and put plastic over me and threw me in the back of a pickup truck. Ouch! Vroom, Vroom! off we go. Rrreeek, we're home. Let's get out and go show your Mom and put it up. What's going on here? My trunk is in a holder and I'm covered with a whole bunch of shiny stuff and little balls and after a few days some boxes with paper and bows on them.

After Christmas they went to visit some relatives. The youngest one left the door open and the adults didn't notice. They drove away. It started to get cold with the door open. Then a whole bunch of these little ugly bugs started to come through it. They ate the couch, the wood. They got into the refrigerator and ate all the food. They even ate the carpet. Then they started toward me. Oh! Oh! When they got closer I recognized them. They were termites. They got closer and closer. Gobble! Gobble! Munch! Munch! They're here! Someone help! Quick, I'm a goner! I thought they were moving up my trunk. Timber, crash! I'm a goner now! When the kids got home they put me in the back of their truck and threw me in the garbage. The end.

What a life!

Santa got all wrapped up!

"We have to move with times," said Santa as he admired his parcelling machine. "You see, the wrapping paper goes in here. The ribbon goes in here. And the present goes in this hopper and comes out at the back all wrapped and ready."

On Christmas Eve, Santa was delighted that he had installed the parcelling machine. He leaned over to make sure it was empty when. "Ooh. aah. nearly. errh. oow! Santa toppled into the machine and came out neatly wrapped. He was loaded on to the sleigh with all the other parcels.

The reindeer took the big box with Santa in it to a school. The reindeer put and left Santa at the school. When the kids came in the morning, the kids opened the great big box. The kids were surprised. They were yelling in joy. They were yelling, "Santa's here, Santa is here! Santa!"

Santa said, "Be Quiet."

The children said, "Why are you here?"

"Because I got put in a box and I was yelling for help. No one heard me. So they took me to the sled and then the sled started to move and they put me at the school. Now I have to go back to the North Pole."

The kids said, "We could help you."

Santa said, "Okay, but you better be safe."

So, they went to the North Pole.

WHY DIDN'T SANTA COME?

I am going to write a letter good, I am sure he'll like it. There all done. Good, the elves are busy and Santa is saying get the reindeer ready, but oh my Santa is sick. the reindeer are running to get the doctor. The doctor is here. Then doctor said Santa is ill. You will be out of bed on December 30th. No Chirstmas for Santa.

What I Think About Christmas—I think Christmas is a loving and caring time. You give and you receive gifts. I like Christmas because I like to give and get the present every year. My family goes to three different Christmases every year.

Santa fell into the wrapping machine and ended up in a great big box. The kids were certainly surprised when they opened it!

A special card

This is a handmade card in response to Craig Shergold's request for 1 million Christmas cards.

To Craig:

My name is Thera Simioni. I am a girl. I love to write letters to people. I am very sorry that you are going to die of cancer. I wish you could live. It must be scarey if you found out that you were going to die. It would be amazing to get 1 million Christmas cards. I wish you luck.

MY CHRISTMAS

When I got up I went into my mom and dad's room. I woke them up. I said, "Where are my presents." "Hi Steven did you get presents." "No" "No"? What's going wrong, "Let's go to the north pole." "Yeah, but we have to go on a jet." "Ha, look at that house, wow, check that house, but Santa lives there," The end by Kenny.

How Santa Go Better—On Christmas eve Santa was sick. Mrs. Clause went to the drug store and bought pills. When she got home Santa was worse. Mrs. Clause yelled to the elves and said ha elves I want you to fly the sleigh to night ok! All right said the elves, so it was time to deliver the gifts.

THE OLD MAN

One Christmas an old man was going to the north pole. He got lost there and he found an old house with the lights on. It was night so he went in. There were elves all over and one old lady. She said, "Come in." So he went in and the old lady said, "You would be great for Santa." And he said, "Well, okay," and the old lady gave him a red suit and she showed him a sleigh. It was all ready to go. So Santa hopped into the sleigh with the toys and went to every house. When he got back the elves were making toys for next Christmas. Santa was wondering if he had to out again. Then one of the elves said, "Do you have glue for this toy because if you don't it won't be able to go in someone's stocking." And Santa said, "I have glue for it and I will fix it."

The reindeer who could ski!

One snowy day a reindeer was running around. He saw a house so he went inside the house. He saw a pair of skis and he put them on and he zoomed out the door and down the hill right into Santa's workshop. The next day it was Christmas Day and the girls and boys opened their presents. The children were happy with their presents and the reindeer was happy that he had found the skis.

On Christmas eve Rudolph was sick and he could not take the sleigh to the houses so Santa had to have nobody at the front of the sleigh. Rudolph got worse. And the next day and night Rudolph got sicker, sicker. But one day Santa came into the barn. Santa said, "what are you doing Rudolph" Rudolph said, "I do not know." Then he got better the next day. Then next year Rudolph was better. And Santa gave gifts out. Then Christmas was over.
